

STOPfakes.gov Road Show

Intellectual Property Rights Seminar

September 18, 2012

The North Texas District Export Council, The City of Richardson, U.S. Department of Commerce's Office of Intellectual Property Rights, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and U.S. Commercial Service cordially invite you to attend the STOPfakes.gov Road Show, an Intellectual Property Rights Enforcement Outreach Program. This is an opportunity to learn the basics of intellectual property rights (IPR) protection and U.S. government resources available to help small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) protect their IPR at home and abroad. This three-hour program will feature presentations by intellectual property experts and law enforcement officials, followed by an open discussion with experts from industry and government.

Seminar topics will include:

- What is Intellectual Property?
- Understand the basics of obtaining Intellectual Property Rights in the U.S./Resources
- Understand the basics of obtaining intellectual Property Rights in other Countries/Resources
- How to enforce your Intellectual Property Rights in the U.S./Resources
- How to enforce your Intellectual Property Rights Overseas/Resources

This program is brought to you under the National Export Initiative and is co-hosted by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Office of Intellectual Property Rights, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, and the National IPR Coordination Center.
